

Write Now! Coach The Write Now! Coach Blog Guidelines for Guest Writers

www.WriteNowCoach.com ~*~ rochelle@writenowcoach.com

The Write Now! Coach Blog frequently features authors and guest bloggers on topics of interest to writers. If you are interested in becoming a guest blogger, please submit your bio, a list of your publications, and three possible topics to rochelle (at) writenowcoach (dot) com.

See below for Writing Guidelines, potential topic categories, and giveaway information. Please note that the Write Now! Coach Blog does NOT accept sponsored posts.

The Write Now! Coach Blogs Writing Guidelines

- *Guest posts should be 500-1000 words long and sent as an MSWord attachment.
- *Please include (but do not embed) your links in the body of your post.
- *Send a photo, a bio, and a link to your website, blog, or Twitter account. If you would like to include key words to tag, that would be helpful.
- *If you are an author and would like to do a giveaway, please let us know when you submit your idea. All submission should be sent via email to rochelle (at) writenowcoach (dot) com.
- *All posts are due one week before the expected publication date.
- *Guest bloggers will be tweeted and celebrated all over the social media world but we cannot at this time pay you. You retain the rights to your writing and can use it again (though it will stay up at our site).

REGULAR CATEGORIES

#WritersRead

The Write Now! Coach created the #WritersRead for reading writers to share the books that inspired them to write. Nearly every Friday The Write Now! Coach features guest bloggers writing about their favorite books for #writersread. We often do a book giveaway with each #WritersRead post. Posts generally have three sections.

Section One: Book Recommendation

- *An author's favorite book in a genre (e.g., fantasy or mystery)
- *A book that shaped an author's writing
- *A book that inspired a writer during a difficult time.
- *A reflection on a writing book that inspired the writer
- *A reflection on any book that encouraged a writer to write

Section Two: Writing Tip

What writing tip would you like to offer to readers? The tip usually has to do with the book you are recommending, though it might have to do with the type of book you write or the situation in the world right now.

Section Three: Bio

Take a moment to tell readers about you, your most recent book, and why you write. Include links to your website and social media presence.

If you are an author or blogger with a passion for reading, send your idea to the Write Now! Coach along with the title of the book you will be recommending, your bio, and a link to your website or blog. If you plan to do a book giveaway, please also include the title of the book you will give (along with the format). See guidelines below for length and style of posts.

Writers@Work

The Write Now! Coach created Writers@Work to educate freelance writers about unique writing gigs. If you're a writer who makes money in a unique way, email rochelle (at) writenowcoach (dot) com with a summary of what you do, your bio, and a link to your website. Writers@Work posts appear on Thursdays.

Wednesday Writing Prompt

The Write Now! Coach often publishes a writing prompt on Wednesdays. If you've got a creative writing prompt, submit your idea along with your bio and a link to your website or blog.

National Novel Writing Month

The Write Now! Coach wrote the popular NaNoWriMo guide, Write-A-Thon: Write Your Book in 26 Days \(And Live to Tell About It\) and has been an active participant and NaNo winner since 2007. Every November, the Write Now! Coach uses her blog to educate and support NaNo participants. If you have a writing prompt or tip to help writers who participate in NaNoWriMo, send your idea to Rochelle along with a bio and link to your website.
